CREW

The Crew of a tanker is the most important aspect and should be well qualified and experienced to operate the vessel with care and professionalism. Oil majors are extremely concerned about the quality and retentivity of the crew. The Oil Majors Officers Matrix must be complied with. For this we have a pool of experienced tankermen from India and Philippines to ensure that the tanker is operated to the highest standards.

TRAINING

Training and courses for the tanker officers and crew is essential to build up a strong team. High quality personnel are the key to an efficient shipboard management squad. An onboard training program is in effect to ensure that the crew are constantly updated and trained in line with the high standards required by the Oil majors. Seminars are conducted in order to have an interaction between the ship and shore staff to constantly improve.

BUILDING LOYALTY

Building Crew loyalty is of utmost importance in the tanker trade. The Company instills a sense of belonging so that the crew return on a rotational basis. Our organization believes in an open dialogue with the ship staff and our team strongly believes that we have a common goal and the blame culture must be eradicated. The vessels are visited by the Company DPA/Superintendent on a regular basis and any crew grievance noted and solved.

OIL MAJOR'S AIM

- TO ACHIEVE SAFE,CLEAN,EFFICIENT,INCIDENT FREE AND RELIABLE TRANSPORTATION
- ENCOURAGE AND SUPPORT OPERATORS ADDRESSING CONTINUOUS IMPROVEMENT.
- DIRECT THEIR BUSINESS TO QUALITY OPERATORS.

TMSA-OIL MAJORS DEMANDS
